(incorporated in Hong Kong with limited liability)

RESULTS ANNOUNCEMENT For the quarter ended 31 December 2002

Characteristics of The Growth Enterprise Market (“GEM”) of The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited (the “Exchange”)

GEM has been established as a market designed to accommodate companies to which a high investment risk may be attached. In particular, companies may list on GEM with neither a track record of profitability nor any obligation to forecast future profitability. Furthermore, there may be risks arising out of the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM and the business sectors or countries in which the companies operate. Prospective investors should be aware of the potential risks of investing in such companies and should make the decision to invest only after due and careful consideration. The greater risk profile and other characteristics of GEM mean that it is a market more suited to professional and other sophisticated investors.

Given the emerging nature of companies listed on GEM, there is a risk that securities traded on GEM may be more susceptible to high market volatility than securities traded on the Main Board and no assurance is given that there will be a liquid market in the securities traded on GEM.

The principal means of information dissemination on GEM is publication on the internet website operated by the Exchange. Listed companies are not generally required to issue paid announcements in gazetted newspapers. Accordingly, prospective investors should note that they need to have access to the GEM website in order to obtain up-to-date information on GEM-listed issuers.

Business review and outlook

1. Overview

In the quarter under review, the global economy, the technology sector and the capital market continued to see a prolonged depression, while the leadership of China went through a smooth transition. Such being the case, the Group has not entered into any new contract of substantial amount in this period, and the funds for the big mainland China contracts on hand have not been in place. As a result, the Group recorded a loss for the fourth consecutive quarters. During this period, the Board continued to follow its more conservative approach adopted for accounting purposes.

2. Results for the period

The loss for the period was approximately HK$19.4 million compared to a profit of approximately HK$6.4 million during the same period in the previous year. This is mainly due to the decrease in turnover from HK$31.5 million to HK$8.6 million as a result of the adoption of a more stringent view on recognizing revenue for contracts of relatively longer term in nature in mainland China, and the impairment of investment securities amounting to HK$8.0 million. The afore-said effect is partly offset by the decrease in staff costs and other operating expenses from HK$19.7 million to HK$9.4 million.

Turnover generated from mainland China represents over 90% of the total turnover of the Group during the period. As the Group has substantial contracts on hand in mainland China, it is expected that the level of activities in mainland China will continue to be high in future.

3. Progress of Timeless Consolidated Platform (“TCP”)

Being a software development company, the highlight of our efforts in this quarter was represented by turning the TCP into practical market applications as well as the establishment and consolidation of the five pillars for the consolidated platform. This is an important foundation and a potential factor for the Company’s financial position to turn around in future. The five pillars for TCP can be shown in five aspects, namely technology, business, human resources, geographic locations and visions.

4. The technological pillar

The technological pillar of TCP has been basically established in this quarter after years of development, and has gained market recognition.

Recently, we have formally obtained a testing result of TCP from the most authoritative accreditation and testing center in the PRC. Such testing was specifically aimed at software products. TCP received ratings of distinction for all the nine features in the specific functional tests including transportability of TCP. Recognition of the functions and value of TCP by this authoritative institution will have an immense significance and long-term influence on the market, particularly the PRC market.

The Group will go further to obtain accreditations such as system integration qualification and ISO accreditation standards in the PRC, which may further assist the Group in obtaining State projects and attaining various standards.

5. The business pillar

Currently, the Group has a group of strategic partners who are also strategic users. All of them are enterprises with significant influence in the market and of great potential, and examples of which include China Mobile Beijing Branch, Beijing Sports Bureau, Southern Software Park, Huawei Technology Company Limited, Emerson Network Company, and new additions to the list in the quarter include CEPREI (Headquarters) Laboratory, Guangzhou Gas Company and enterprises whose specialty is in the collection and analyzing of vast volume of data. Progress was seen in the collaboration between these entities and the Group in this quarter. In future, these entities will be the principal profit drivers of the Group.

6. The human resources pillar

The Group has finally completed Version I of the “Timeless Operating Flow Guideline”. It is on the verge of being implemented. This has an immense significance in terms of cost-saving in human resources, and in terms of forming an elite development system.

7. The geographical pillar

Development of the Group in Europe and in the United States met a setback after the occurrence of the 911 incident. Yet with the passage of time, it has regained momentum. Recently, the Group’s progress in its collaboration with a company in the Silicon Valley of the United States has been encouraging, and will be an important pillar for a win-win situation for both the United States and Hong Kong markets.

8. The pillar of visions

By the end of 2002, the Group has completed the global and strategic preparation of its software development business and consolidated platform. This strategy is based on the unique forward-adaptability characteristic of TCP, which has proved itself after enduring long and continuous operation. In concrete terms, the continuous improvement in the Group's cash flow will be the only performance measurement of this strategy in future.

9. Prospects

The world remains in difficulties, so does Hong Kong, and so do we. However, as China is expected to be moving rapidly forward, the Group is certain that the foundation it has built in China over the past years will eventually bring success to the Group. With the changes in leadership of the Chinese Government expected to be completed very soon, the funds for the Group's big mainland China projects should be in place soon thereafter. Moreover, the Group's investments namely Southern Software Park, West China Electronic Business Co., Ltd. and Ningxia Educational Information Technology Co. Ltd. are making great strides forward in their business development and in the direction of attaining their aim toward a listing. There are ample reasons to be hopeful that 2003 may ultimately turn out to be a pleasant year.

Finally, the Board has undertaken a Group-wide cost cutting by reducing the remuneration of the Chairman and other staff by 20% and 15% respectively. It is perceived that this and other related measures are desired disciplines before and until the current economic conditions significantly improve and the financial performance of the Group turns around.

Purchase, sale or redemption of the Company's listed securities

There were no purchases, sales or redemptions of the Company's listed securities by the Company or any of its subsidiaries during the period.
